2022-2023 Expected Year Income Form

Student Name: _____ CUID/UNI _____

If the expected income of your household will be less from January 1, 2022 to December 31, 2022 than the 2020 income information you reported on the FAFSA, you may request an estimated income review be performed. If you are married, you must include income figures for your spouse. Changes in parental income can only be reviewed for students who are considered dependent under federal financial aid guidelines. Please use black ink only to complete this form.

Reason for requesting income adjustment:

_____ Unemployment/Loss of Income

_____ Divorce/Separation

_____ Death of spouse or parent

_____ Disability of student, spouse or parent

_____ One-time income (examples: inheritance, moving expense allowance, back year Social Security payments, or IRA/pension distributions)

_____ Other (Please explain below)

In order for your request to be considered, we must receive:

1. A signed letter outlining the circumstances surrounding your request.
2. Supporting Documentation. This can include but is not limited to:
 - a. Copies of most recent pay stub(s)
 - b. Signed statements from employer outlining current and projected earnings
 - c. Legal paperwork such as child support and alimony agreements, death certificates, and divorce decrees.
 - d. Unemployment compensation and JTPA benefit documents
 - e. Disability and Social Security benefit documents
 - f. Federal tax returns

You must also complete the anticipated income information on the reverse side of this form. Requests with missing or incomplete documentation will not be processed.

IMPORTANT: Please be advised that you must notify our office promptly if there is any change in your income from the amounts you indicate on this form. If a review of your financial information in the next school year reveals discrepancies in the figures you listed on this form, an Expected Year Income form in subsequent years will not be honored.
